Introduction to the Study of the Greek Dialects

With Grammar, Selected Inscriptions, and Glossary

By CARL DARLING BUCK

Professor and Head of the Department of Sanskrit and
Indo-European Philology in The University of Chicago

8vo, cloth, xvi + 320 pages, $2.75

THE aim of this work is to furnish in concise form the essential material for an introductory study of the Greek dialects. Hitherto there has been no single volume intended to fulfill the requirements of college and graduate students who wish to gain a first-hand knowledge of Greek dialects, whether for a better understanding of historical Greek grammar, or for a greater appreciation of the variety of speech in the Greek world, only half suspected from the few dialects employed in literature, or as a substantial foundation for a critical study of these literary dialects, or merely for the ability to handle intelligently the numerous dialect inscriptions which are important in the investigation of Greek institutions.

The book contains a grammatical introduction covering all the important dialectic peculiarities and accompanied by convenient summaries of the characteristics of each dialect, a selection of dialect inscriptions with commentary, and a glossary and index.

SCHOOL OF AMERICAN ARCHAEOLOGY

THE SCHOOL OF AMERICAN ARCHAEOLOGY was founded by the Archaeological Institute of America in 1907, to conduct the researches of the Institute in the American field, direct the expeditions of the branch Societies, and afford opportunities for field work and training to students of archaeology and ethnology. Expeditions for the excavation of ancient American ruins are sent out from time to time. Students of archaeology and ethnology will be admitted to expeditions on satisfying the Director as to qualifications for the work proposed. Terms of admission will be furnished on application.

The Central American Fellowship with a stipend of $600 is awarded annually. Other Fellowships are to be established as soon as funds are secured for their maintenance. The School coöperates in research with the Bureau of American Ethnology and with universities and scientific organizations, both home and foreign. Correspondence is invited with reference to such collaboration in either field or archive work in American subjects.

For further information, address the Director,

EDGAR L. HEWETT,

Santa Fe,

New Mexico

AMERICAN SCHOOL AT ATHENS

THE AMERICAN SCHOOL OF CLASSICAL STUDIES AT ATHENS was founded by the Archaeological Institute of America in 1881, and is in great measure supported by the coöperation of leading American Universities and Colleges. No charge for tuition is made to graduates of the supporting institutions; other students are required to pay a fee of $25 per annum for tuition and library privileges. Two Fellowships, with a stipend of $600 each, are awarded on examination; the examinations in 1913 (for the Fellowships of 1913-1914) will be held on March 13-15. The library of the School contains more than 4000 carefully selected volumes.

The Director of the School is Mr. B. H. HILL. In 1912-1913 the annual professorship is held by Professor CLARENCE P. BILL, of Western Reserve University.

For further information, address the Chairman of the Managing Committee,

Professor JAMES R. WHEELER,
Columbia University, New York, N.Y.

AMERICAN SCHOOL IN ROME

THE AMERICAN SCHOOL OF CLASSICAL STUDIES IN ROME (Via Vicenza, 5) was founded in 1895 by the Archaeological Institute of America, and is affiliated with it and with the American School at Athens. It offers to graduates in Arts of American Colleges, and, under exceptional circumstances, to other persons of marked qualifications, instruction and assistance in advanced classical and archaeological studies. Regular courses of lectures and practical exercises, chiefly in the field or in the museums, are given by the resident American instructors and by distinguished foreign specialists. Liberal opportunities for study are afforded in the great museums and libraries. Archaeological excursions are arranged for and conducted. The Director of the School is Professor JESSE BENEDICT CARTER. The Professor of Latin for 1912-1913 is Professor E. K. RAND, of Harvard University. He will be succeeded in 1913-1914 by Professor G. L. HENDRICKSON, of Yale University.

Tuition is free to graduates of "coöperating colleges." One or more Fellowships in Classical Archaeology, each of $600, and usually one in Christian Archaeology, of $500, are awarded annually on competitive examination, which (for the Fellowships of 1913-1914) will be held on March 10-11, 1913. Two Research Fellowships also, each of $800, have been established by the Carnegie Institution, which will be awarded for the year 1912-1913.

For further information, address the Chairman of the Managing Committee,

Professor ANDREW F. WEST,
Princeton University, Princeton, N.J.

AMERICAN SCHOOL IN JERUSALEM

THE AMERICAN SCHOOL OF ORIENTAL RESEARCH IN JERUSALEM was founded in 1900, and is affiliated with the Archaeological Institute of America. It is supported by a number of American Universities and Theological Seminaries and by private subscriptions. The School offers to properly qualified persons excellent opportunities for the study of the geography, archaeology, and history of Syria, and of the Semitic languages. No charge for tuition is made to graduates of the supporting institutions; other students are required to pay a fee of $25 per annum. A Fellowship, with a stipend of $800, is awarded annually on examination. The Director of the School for 1912-1913 is Professor WARREN J. MOULTON, of Bangor Theological Seminary. The Chairman of the Committee on Fellowships is Professor CHARLES C. TORREY, Yale University, New Haven, Conn.
